Who's Who, and Why

William P. Harley, 1915

From graduation until July 1917 Mr. Harley was with the U. S. Indian Forest Service as compassman, estimator and forest assistant on reservations in Washington, Montana, Minnesota and New Mexico. Practically all of this time was spent on timber reconnaissance.

During the World War he was in the Army for twenty months, seventeen of which were spent in France with the 10th Engineers' Forestry. He went in as a buck private and came out a sergeant.

After the war Mr. Harley went back into the Indian Service as Forest Assistant on the Flathead Reservation in Montana but was transferred shortly afterwards to the Jicarilla Reservation in New Mexico as Forest Supervisor. In May 1925 he was appointed Logging Engineer at Large but resigned in October of the same year to accept a position with the Baldridge Lumber Company in Albuquerque, New Mexico. He is now Vice-President of that firm.

"My main interest is to try to make some money for the stockholders, and the main problem is to do this in spite of the competition we have here, just as every section of the country has."

Raymond D. Garver, 1931

Mr. Garver's record runs something like this: From a mid-western farm to Washington, D. C. in 30 years, with side trips through the forestry departments of Nebraska University and Iowa State; worked in sawmills and reforestation camps and secured employment in the Rocky Mountains and the East with the U. S. Forest Service as junior forester, supervisor, and inspector on the action side of forestry; and as principal forester and director of the Nation-wide Forest Survey on research phases.

"In retrospect the supervisor's job in charge of a good forest tops all that I have experienced in administrative work. In research my present position in charge of the Survey rates high with me but the thrill as project leader of finding out new things about selective cutting, economics and utilization through studies at the Forest Products Laboratory or timber growing at experiment stations still lingers satisfyingly.

"At present my main interest is to push to completion the Forest

Survey for the United States and to direct the interpretation of the results so that they will be an impelling guide to the formulation of forest policies and programs regionally and nationally. This information is basic to guide forestry and to synchronize forestry with other major types of land use. Survey findings also furnish first-hand figures with respect to forest resources which are essential not only to industrial development, such as the recent pulp-expansion in the South, but to sound resource management including the steady jobs that forests should provide."

G. D. Pickford, 1926

After graduating from Iowa State in June 1926 Mr. Pickford worked as field assistant for the Forest Service in range research at the Great Basin Experiment Station (now a branch of the Intermountain Experiment Station). In May 1927 he was appointed Forest Ranger and assigned to the Targhee National Forest with headquarters at Ashton, Idaho. He was ranger on the Targhee until 1930 when he was transferred to the Branch of Research and assigned to the spring-fall range study being made by the Intermountain Forest and Range Experiment Station, Ogden, Utah. He carried on research in the spring-fall range type until 1936 assuming charge of the research activities at the U. S. Sheep Experiment Station in 1932. In 1936 Mr. Pickford was transferred to the Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station where he has charge of range research in the states of Oregon and Washington.

"At present I am trying to measure up to the task of organizing an effective research program to solve some of the many important problems of range resource administration in the Pacific Northwest where the grazing capacity of summer ranges falls 40% short of meeting the legitimate demands of the dependent livestock industry for summer grazing."

AFIELD WITH THE ALUMNI

- William W. Mast, '00—My son and I made a trip to Europe last fall—a cruise of six weeks to the Baltic countries on a freighter carrying forest products from Finland.
- R. F. Balthis, '07—William R. Rumbaugh, '16 called for an overnight visit early in January. See E. J. "Pete" Downey occasionally.
- Shirley W. Allen, '09—Saw J. C. Whithaus, R. G. Schreck, G. A. McIntyre, Prof. MacDonald, Lyle Watts at Ames dinner in Columbus, Ohio.
- R. A. Olmstead, '12—I had a fine visit with W. A. Smith of Los Angeles this winter. Was also glad to visit the Ames campus this winter but as it was Sunday was unable to see any of the Professors or students.
- Milo H. Deming, '20—Saw G. D. Pickford, F. L. Moravets, Harley J. Helm, Joe Pechanec.
- Elmer C. Loy, '20—W. H. Davis, '17, Assistant conservationist, is now located with us here in Culbertson, Montana.
- Lloyd Wall, '20—Leonard Lessel is forest supervisor here on Gila National Forest; Hugh Cassidy is working here on Flood Control Survey, and Harley Helm is working for the SCS here at Albuquerque.
- Roger D. Morris, '22—See Bill Harley, Hugh Cassidy, Leonard Lessell and H. Helm occasionally.
- Paul M. Dunn, '23—Saw Nagel, Steffin, Svenby, and Deming.
- F. B. Trenk, '23—Saw C. T. Smith and T. F. Kouba, both of whom are engaged in state work.
- E. W. "Stub" Watkins, '23—Appropriated two (boy 10 and girl 6). Give my regards to Prof. Mac.
- Allen F. Miller, '24—At present I am located in Boston and have charge of the state of Massachusetts for the Northeastern Timber Salvage Adm.
- Joseph Howell, '25—Preparing volume tables for woodland species * Juniperus scopulorum and monosperma, and Pinus edulis—also are gathering yield and growth information.
- C. R. Towne, '25—Saw Supervisor Hoffman of Monte Vista, Colorado and Supervisor Schipull of Mancos, Colorado.
- N. K. Clemmensen, '26—Saw Glenn Durrell, Chipman, McGuinis, Lee, Griswold.
- C. E. Farnsworth, '26—I am at present spending a six months sabbatical leave completing residence requirements for the PhD at the Univ. of Michigan. A son arrived May 16, 1938.
- Jack B. Hogan, '26—"Chesty" Hogan is now one year old.
- Theodore F. Kouba, '26—Saw Fred Trenk.
- Neil Fullerton, '27—See J. P. Nagle, Svendby, and Dean Jeffers occasionally.
- J. A. Gibbs, '27—Have contacted quite a number of alumni in Ohio Valley.
- Gordon C. Hutchings, '27—Still the owner and operator of a Rainbow Trout Farm near Denver, Colorado.
- Orrin L. Latham, '27—Saw and visited "Doc" Melvin, Vernon Young and Dean and Mrs. Jeffers.
- Raymond McKinley, '27—Was transferred from the South Carolina and Croatan National Forests to the Chattahoochee National Forest.
- Walter Schipull, '27—Just completed a four month detail in Maine on timber salvage work resulting from the New England hurricane.
- George A. Turney, '27—The woods is full of Ames alumni here.

- Donald Ball, '28—Gerald Kruse is the only other Ames man on the Superior. Saw Boeckh, Prout, Kulp, and Chisholm, at section meeting of S. A. F.
- Fred E. Boeckh, '28—Adopted a girl, Katherine Jane, Jan. 1939. Am still waiting for Prof. Mac to drive up and go through our plant.
- W. M. Beveridge, '29—Nat Hanson stopped in Holbrook a few weeks ago.
- Nat B. Hanson, '29—Stopped in Holbrook and had a chat with Bill Beveridge.
- Arthur L. Holding, '29—Daughter born Dec. 4, 1938.
- John Kulp, '29—Saw Roy Olson at Cass Lake and Jack Newville in Walker, Minnesota.
- Roy W. Olson, '29—Would like to hear from some of the '29 gang. Saw Ed Lee, John Kulp and Jack Newville.
- Harold F. Scholz, '29—Daughter born recently.
- Luther B. Burkett, '30—How about a few lines from Heachot, Wambold, Beveridge, Nichols, Diemer, Hawkins and the rest of the 1930 class, with the understanding that no reply will be expected. Suggested topics: weather, scenery, number of children 4 months and older, contemplations and diversions, with a small paragraph about work, if you must talk shop.
- E. F. Heacox, '30—Mike Webster and John Swartz are in Olympia; Bill Grogan is working for Weyerhaeuser here in Tacoma. Met Wambold at Pacific Logging Congress.
- R. D. Holtz, '30—Son, Robert Dean II, born Dec. 1, 1938.
- George J. Pecaro, '30—Glenn Ball and Kenneth Sauer both working here. Would like to hear from Bill Klug.
- Sylvan T. Runkel, '30—Dropped in on Bill West, Supervisor of the Teton National Forest, this summer; he and family are thriving well.
- Clyde T. Smith, '31—Haven't been in contact with an Iowa Stater for so long that I use the mirror to see what they look like. I hope the class of 1931 aren't all getting as bald as the mirror indicates.
- Harold S. Coons, '32—Frequently see Luther Burkett, but I haven't seen any other Iowa State Foresters for ages.
- Wendell H. Harmon, '32—Enjoyed the homecoming game and first return to Iowa State.
- E. Grau, '33—Jake Jauch stopped in before Christmas. Seems to be the same old Jake, except that he forgot to shave under the nose.
- Walter L. Graves, '33—Daughter born recently. Would like to hear from the class of '33, if they still can write.
- Earl Olson, '33—Rip Stone visited on October 22, with his wife—had a fine time reminiscing.
- Ivan Sack, '33—Assigned as Grazing Asst. Sequoia National Forest, for last six months have been on detail in Division of Personnel Management, Regional Office.
- Hugh A. Steavenson, '33—Our first, a girl, was born May 4, 1938. A number of Iowa State foresters are with the Forest Service in Missouri but are pretty well hidden away in the Ozarks where I have little opportunity to see them.
- Bob Hess, '34—Creosote Kid Gottschalk writes from every waterhole in eastern U. S.
- John Hubbard, '34—A husky lad was born to us Dec. 12, 1938.
- Gilbert Stradt, '34—Talked with Chipman and Dyksterhuis at the Crockett office.
- Robert L. Curtis, '35—Have seen Hendrickson, Wygle, Roche, and Steavenson.
- Paul Libby, '35—Left SCS camp in Kentucky September 15th to accept a job as an officer in the 9th Corps. I'm now in the middle of the Owhyce Desert.

- Paul M. Muller, '35—Saw Henning Carlson who is at Murray, Ky., with the S. C. S..
- D. H. Osterman, '35—It was a boy, March 3, 1938.
- Glenn Ball, '36—Room with Ken Compton, work with Pecaro and Sauer; have talked with McElhinney and Dannenberg.
- A. B. Bishop, '36—Frequently see Ray Phillips and Art Shafer.
- Everett H. Clocker, '36—The Medicine Bow has a few Iowa State men, Ned Avery and Mark Ratliff.
- K. C. Compton, '36—I room with Glenn Ball, see Ken Sauer and George Pecaro occasionally. Al Jensen writes once in a while; but what has become of Heyer.
- Donald E. Cox, '36—We have had a heavy infestation of the Black Hills Beetle during the past two years.
- Keith Cranston, '36—Ray Phillips is here abouts. Hear from Jim Barton every once in a while.
- Lewis E. Getty, '36—I am employed as a Technical Forester in the Ames C. C. C. camp.
- Russell E. Getty, '36—Worked with Vance Tribbett until last spring when he got a job with the S. C. S. and left the Indian Service.
- Hans C. Milius, '36—Married Mabel E. Molln, Home Ec. '38, on June 25, 1938. What happened to Pete Schlemmer anyway? Where are you, Ray Phillips?
- Jules Renaud, '36—Am working same place as Harley Helm and Joe Howell.
- Marshall Thayer, '36—Frank Kowski is hibernating in the Bechler River District of Yellowstone Nat'l Park this winter.
- James H. Barton, '37—Met Bill Follen in Somerset, Ky.—coming back from old Iowa Christmas celebrations.
- Clarence P. Kinkor, '37—Have been working with Harlie Smith.
- James F. Overby, '37—Haven't as yet run into any Ames foresters on this project, the N. E. Timber Salvage Adm., and with the predominance of Syracuse, Maine, Yale, and Harvard men, I have been hard put to uphold the integrity of the Alma Mammy. Visited Hutchinson and his charming family in Wisconsin shortly after Christmas.
- Archie E. Patterson, '37—Haven't seen a sign of an I. S. C. forester in the deep South as yet.
- William G. Stump, '37—Will be teaching Handicraft and Conservation at Trails End Ranch of Cheley Colorado Camps in Estes Park this summer.
- Clarence Baird, '38—Married Dec. 31, 1938. Working with Sam Hohenadel. Saw Breem Kennedy in Weed last October and Kansky in September.
- Jennings D. Hotchkiss, '38—Wayne Lewison comes here about once a month, and Hal B. Clarke is Project Superintendent.
- Warren Lischer, '38—Completing the first year of a two year fellowship in Silviculture at the N. Y. State School of Forestry.
- Franklin H. Mullen, '38—Married in March.
- Kenneth Sauer, '38—Married June 20, 1938. I am working for George Pecaro; Glenn Ball is also employed here. Kenneth Compton comes out to see us occasionally.
- Sam Scott, '38—See Clemmensen once in a while; haven't seen any other Ames foresters.
